MEXICAN MATTERS STILL UNSETTLED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Oct. 4.—Officials high in both the state and war departments today predicted that the efforts of the American and Mexican commissioners to find a way out of the differences between the United States and Mexico now are doomed to failure. For the first time since the commissioners met in New London, Ct., a month ago, officials disclosed their pessimism.

The shifting of the scene of the deliberations from New London to Atlantic City served to make pertinent the query "What has been accomplished after a month of intermittent sessions?"

An official answer to the question is not forthcoming but there is no longer any attempt to conceal disappointment that at this late date, no common understanding has been reached as to the subject matter of the controversy. The American commissioners in separate sessions touching upon relations between the two countries. Carranza's commissioners, however, remain adamant and in their strict adherence to their chief's mandate refuse to discuss anything except the withdrawal of American troops from Mexico.

The visit of Ambassador-Designate Arredondo to Mexico City has wrought no change in the mind of the First Chief. And past experience in dealing with Carranza has taught officials here the lesson that Carranza often increases his demands upon the United States although not yet on record as having conceded anything to American opinion either before or since his recognition.

British and French protests against Carranza's seizure of the assets of English and French banks in Mexico City have increased instead of lessening the complications. Charge Holier of the British legation in Mexico City is here to back up the protests made in behalf of his nationals. The British and French embassies here will act jointly in pressing the state department for relief. The plain inference is that, should the United States refuse to act, the European allies will have to press the contentions without American aid but to the great discomfort of the United States.

Meanwhile evidence increases that Villa continues to dominate the situation in Chihuahua, conditions making the further detention of the American column in that state imperative, despite Carranza's protests.

AGAIN PROMOTED.

John T. Loughran Now a Professor of Law at Fordham.

The announcement of the faculty and lecture hours of the Fordham University School of Law for the academic year of 1916-1917, which has just been issued, states that John T. Loughran of this city has been made professor of law. Mr. Loughran became a member of the Fordham law faculty in 1912 as a lecturer in law. He was appointed an associate professor of law in 1914.

The announcement also contains a notice of the removal of the school to new quarters in the Woolworth building, and of the appointment of Judge James A. Delehanty, of the court of general sessions, as professor of law. Judge Delehanty, as a member of Governor Whitman's staff, when the latter was district attorney of New York county, prosecuted the famous Becker and Schmidt cases. He will give the courses in criminal law, substantive and procedural.

FALLING OFF IN LIQUOR LICENSES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Oct. 4.—Expectation that there will be a large number of liquor tax certificates, which were in force in 1916, relinquished by their holders in 1917, is likely to be justified, it is said, when the state department of excise makes up its table showing the number of these certificates which have been reissued and those which have not been.

For the past few years two important factors have been at work, both of which dealt severe blows at the liquor traffic; one was the program of the temperance advocates, the other the increased tax upon the holders of liquor tax certificates.

By the end of September of the present year, the state excise officials received their first inkling that there would very likely be a falling off of the number of liquor tax certificates issued for 1917. By the end of the present month the exact number will be known, as the reports from the special deputy commissioners of excise in the several cities where that office is located will have been submitted by October 15. Then will begin the statistical work on the part of the officials at the capitol.

The field work of the advocates of temperance has brought a crop of favorable results to them, in that in many towns throughout the state the residents have voted "dry" and liquor tax certificates once in vogue in these communities have been rescinded or will be at the end of the year.

The legislative program mapped out by the Anti-Saloon League is said to contain the introduction of bills aimed to bring about state-wide prohibition. During the session of the state lawmakers which came to a conclusion in the spring of the present year, this same organization had won over many supporters, although when it first began its campaign against the sale of liquor, practically a deaf ear was turned to its requests.

Much publicity was given the transcriptions of the committees on excise of both the senate and assembly and in some instances the roll calls showing how committee members and the members of the two houses voted upon the important excise measures were sent far and wide through the state.

The state department of excise has ever been an important revenue producing department. Through the fines imposed, which in reality were in the form of judgments awarded for violation of the excise law, and because of the increased fees for issuing liquor selling licenses, millions have been collected in the past few years.

According to the information furnished by a man close to the question, hundreds of saloons in many of the cities of the state are run entirely by breweries. It is said that these saloons would have gone out of business because unable to pay the license fee, were it not for the breweries which attend to these licenses and supply them with beverages. Sometimes mortgages are taken upon the saloons by the breweries, it is declared.

ASKS COMPANY TO RESUME OPERATION

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Oct. 4.—Mayor Stevens, at the request of the chamber of commerce and Public Service Commission, has requested the United Traction Company to resume the operation of its cars; and the Public Service Commission being pledged to order the traction company to run its cars, providing the mayor's request is not complied with, the indications early today were that the local street car strike situation would soon reach a climax.

Both the traction company and its striking employees are more determined than ever to "fight to a finish" and not a wheel is stirring in any of the cities of the capital district, including Albany, Rensselaer, Troy, Watervliet, Cohoes, Green Island, Waterford and intermediate points, with the exception of Schenectady, 15 miles away. That the strike will be extended to Schenectady on a "sympathetic" basis is a foregone conclusion, providing it lasts long enough, as the Schenectady men have already shown their attitude by refusing to operate their interurban cars inside the Albany and Troy city limits.

James Waddell, "King of the Strike Breakers," who is credited with having broken many street car strikes, is here today prepared to run the first car when the traction company decides to start it. At the car barns men are erecting tables and cots for the accommodation of strike breakers and it is the apparent determination of the traction officials to begin the operation of cars as soon as the arrangements can be made. Trouble of a serious nature is expected as soon as any cars are operated. In addition to the street car men, the strikers have called out the employees of the power stations, but the company was prepared for this and the trolley wires are still charged with electricity for supplying motive power; should it be decided to run the cars.

TROUBLE IN A BROADWAY BAKERY

Labor Inspector Kelly Said Baker Reher Threw Oven Screen at Him—Reher Said Screen Fell While Moving It—Trial Later.

Frank Reher, who conducts a bakery at the corner of Broadway and Spring street, was arrested on Tuesday afternoon by Policeman Welch on a warrant sworn out by Labor Inspector John F. Kelly, charging Mr. Reher with assault in the third-degree. Mr. Reher was arraigned that afternoon before Recorder Lang at his office on the Strand and pleaded not guilty. A hearing was adjourned until October 12.

From what was brought out before Recorder Lang on Monday it appears that some time ago the labor department at Albany ordered Mr. Reher to equip his bake ovens with screens. Monday Inspectors Kelly and Jones appeared at the shop, and found the screens had not been installed, although Mr. Reher had got the screens and they were in the shop.

The inspectors informed Mr. Reher that unless they were immediately placed on the ovens they would seal up the ovens, and that they would remain in the shop until the screens were placed.

Inspector Kelly said that Mr. Reher ordered them out of the shop and they refused to go until the screens were placed or the ovens sealed and that Mr. Reher then picked up one of the screens and threw it at Kelly. Reher's aim was accurate and the screen hit the inspector, tearing his clothes. The inspector then left and called to see Recorder Lang and swore out a warrant for Reher's arrest.

Mr. Reher pleaded not guilty to the charge. His story was that he was moving the screen when it slipped and fell and that Inspector Kelly happened to be near and was not quick enough to get out of the way and that the screen hit the inspector. Mr. Reher said it was a "pure accident."

The screens are now placed on the ovens and the question of whether the baker threw the screen at the inspector, or whether the screen fell accidentally hit the inspector will be threshed out later.

New Orleans to Hear Wilson.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Chicago, Oct. 4.—Ten thousand men and their wives who have become naturalized citizens of the United States since January, 1915, will be given first chance to hear President Wilson when he speaks here on the night of October 13. Invitations were mailed out today by the Naturalized Citizens' League, under whose auspices the president will come here. The general public will be admitted to the hall thirty minutes before the address is begun. Judge Clarence H. Goodwin, president of the league, will preside. Governor Duane and Mayor Thompson will speak briefly and Archbishop Mundelein will deliver the invocation.

THEATER-CHURCH PROBLEM UNSOLVED

Committee on Laws and Rules Fail to Report to Common Council—Are Waiting to Hear From Corporation Counsel.

The St. John's Church-Cohen's theater controversy is still up in the air as far as a determination of the question of whether Mr. Cohen will be allowed to open a theater next door to the church on Wall street is concerned, as the committee on laws and rules of the common council failed to make any report on the matter to the city fathers at the regular meeting on Tuesday evening.

The committee held a hearing in the controversy on the evening of September 13 at which time V. B. Van Wagoner appeared for the theater interests and Howard Chipp for St. John's Church. Both lawyers advanced able arguments in favor of their contention, and at the close the committee announced it would take the matter under advisement and take up the question with the corporation counsel.

Several of the congregation of St. John's Church were present in the council chambers on Tuesday evening, but the only thing that came up about the question was a letter sent by special delivery to the city fathers from Atlantic City from the Rev. A. Schmidt of the Spring Street Lutheran Church, who wrote "Not being able to be present at the special meeting of your honorable body I wish to state by writing that I am highly in favor of having the ordinance presented by the vestry of St. John's Church passed. I especially protest against any attempt to interfere with religious services at public or private places." Pastor Schmidt's letter, enclosed with his letter of protest, was the petition of St. John's Church that the common council should pass an ordinance preventing the erection of a theater within 200 feet of any church.

The letter was referred to the committee on laws and rules. It is understood that as soon as the committee receives a report from the corporation counsel as to the law in the matter it will make a report back to the city fathers.

FIFTY MILE RIDE OPENS A HIGHWAY

By Telegraph to The Freeman. St. Clairsville, Ohio, Oct. 5.—A fifty mile auto parade from Bridgeport, Ohio, just across the river from Wheeling, West Virginia, through Fairview, to this place today celebrated the completion of a thirty mile stretch of paving across Belmont county on the national road.

The federal government started to build the national pike to St. Louis a century ago. After the road had reached a point to Indiana, President James Monroe stopped construction on the ground the work was authorized by "class legislation." Since then the federal government has not assisted the states and smaller governmental divisions to build roads until the passage of the good roads act by the last session of congress.

The new road is the longest continuous stretch of paving in Ohio. Ex-Governor Cox, Governor Willis and James R. Marker, state highway commissioner, led the parade today.

ELECTION OFFICERS WANT MORE MONEY

The 104 election officials of the city who served Primary Day presented bills to the common council on Tuesday evening calling for payment for their services at the rate of $10 a day with $13 a day for the thirteen chairmen. The city fathers in previous years had fixed the rate at $7 a day and allowed the chairman $3 for filing the returns.

As the polls were kept open longer this year the officials evidently decided they were entitled to more money which led them to get together and decide to increase the usual charge $3. Whether they will get it or not is entirely up to the common council. The entire lot of bills was referred to the auditing committee.

MILK STRIKE MAY SOON BE SETTLED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 4.—Indications today pointed to an early settlement of the milk crisis in New York city, with a victory for the farmers.

The big milk distributors showed signs of yielding. Officials of the leading concerns admitting that a solution was not impossible. Negotiations are expected to be entered into shortly for a compromise agreement. The dealers virtually admitted that they could not hold out sixty days as the Dairymen's League, the farmers' combination, asserts it can.

Consent by the Dairymen's League to waive recognition of the organization did much to facilitate further dealings between the two sides. Today's milk supply was much smaller than yesterday's when only a little more than forty per cent of the normal quantity was delivered.

Ulster, Oct. 4.—With the farmers of central New York standing firmly by the Dairymen's League, in the fourth day of the big milk strike, predictions were made today by those in close touch with the situation that the struggle would be over in less than two weeks. It is pointed out that should the metropolitan distributors refuse to meet the demands of the farmers by that time the league members will have gone so far in co-operative plans and shipping arrangements that the dealers will be shut out in the cold.

In every corner of Oneida and the other dairying counties of this section miniature creameries are springing up and everywhere the milk producers are strengthening and elaborating their organizations with a view to co-operative shipment and manufacture of milk products. Should this movement once become thoroughly started the dealers, it is said, will be dropped from the reckoning of the farmers.

It was estimated that only about 10 per cent of the normal shipments of milk went to New York today.

MARRIED THURSDAY MURDERED FRIDAY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 4.—Police today began sending out letters and telegrams to determine if any of the hundreds of women with whom James C. Allerton, 64, corresponded after becoming acquainted through matrimonial papers, arranged that he had married Mrs. Hanna St. Johns, 63, of Mayfield, N. Y., last Thursday and killed her Friday after robbing her of $80. Letters found in Allerton's rooms showed that he had corresponded with women in every part of the country and that to many of them he had proposed marriage. It also was learned that Allerton had used four names as his own.

These names were James Curtis, which he now says is the right one, James Allen, William Allerton and John Allerton. He received his mail at two addresses here and at a third in Coopersville, Mich.

Sheriff Berry says that most of the letters, evidently in reply to those written by Allerton, referred to money matters and the women specifically detailed their financial condition. It is believed that Allerton posed as a wealthy farmer seeking a wife with means of her own. Evidently he had gone about the game systematically for a note book was found containing names and addresses of women and a synopsis of the information which they had written about themselves. Another thing which leads the authorities to believe Allerton had an ulterior motive in his correspondence is that many of the replies said the writers had obeyed his instructions and torn up his letters.

Allerton's confession says that he and Mrs. St. Johns were married soon after her arrival, then they went to the country "to buy a farm." While eating a picnic lunch in the woods she admitted she had $80 with her. She refused to give it up and Allerton shot her.

NO WILSON PEACE MOVE AT PRESENT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Oct. 4.—Administration officials said today that the suggestion of Viscount Bryce of Dechmont, former ambassador at Washington, that America must lead toward peace will not result in any new move at this time by President Wilson. The latter still is convinced, men who know him best say, that any move now would be misunderstood.

They point out, however, that Ambassadors Page and Sharp soon will be back at their posts in London and Paris respectively ready to keep their attention concentrated on public sentiment in England and France, and that they have direct instructions from the president to notify him at once when they believe a move toward mediation can be made. In addition Ambassador Gerard will be here next week and he is to see the president and give him the last word from Teutonic sources regarding peace sentiment there.

JAPAN TO CHANGE FOREIGN POLICY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Oct. 4.—The downfall of the Japanese cabinet, following the resignation of Count Okuma as premier, is believed here to foreshadow a new and probably stronger foreign policy by the Japanese government. And, should Viscount Kato, former foreign minister, be elevated to the premiership in the new cabinet yet to be formed, it is considered certain here that the California Land Laws and the exclusion provisions of the Federal Immigration Laws will be made almost an immediate subject of diplomatic negotiation.

Viscount Kato is a leader of the Japanese faction which has insisted that the questions at issue could have been settled, easily if properly handled, and has openly criticized what he termed the "inactivity" of the former Japanese ambassador, Viscount Chinda, who is now ambassador to Great Britain. It is expected here that when the new Japanese ambassador reaches Washington probably late in November he will resume negotiations with the state department, regarding the questions.

The retirement of Count Okuma, officials say, will have no effect on the Japanese policy of securing control in China. This general policy has the support of all classes of Japanese politicians. The opponents of Viscount Kato, however, are expected to oppose his designation as premier on the ground that Count Marshal Terauchi, now governor-general of Korea, who has done wonders with that dependency, is best fitted to handle the Chinese problems.

General opposition to all of the policies of Count Okuma rather than dissatisfaction with any one of them is said in state department circles today to be the real reason for his retirement to private life. Ever since he assumed office there has been widespread criticism of his handling of national affairs and a combination recently formed in the upper house promised the doom of any and all legislation favored by the present cabinet.

Officials here will watch the progress of events in Japan very carefully. The situation is such that it will require the most careful handling to prevent friction over the California land laws which are under a constant fire of criticism from Japanese newspapers.

ALBANY STRIKE TO BE ARBITRATED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany Oct. 4.—Albany's street car strike came to an end today when it was agreed to submit the differences of the men and the company to arbitration. FIFTEEN MILES AN HOUR FAST ENOUGH

Evidently Law Committee of City Fathers Believed That for They Fail to Recommend Increasing Speed Limit—Matter Laid Over.

The committee on laws and rules of the city fathers—Aldermen Brown, Leverich, McKittick, Purvis and Smith—are not in favor of increasing the speed limit in Kingston from 15 to 20 miles an hour, as was shown on Tuesday evening at the regular meeting of the common council when they submitted a tentative ordinance amending the present traffic ordinance. Action on the amended ordinance, however, was laid over until the next meeting.

The committee reported that it had considered the petition of the Automobile Club of Ulster county praying for a modification of the traffic ordinance so as to prohibit glaring headlights by motor vehicles on brick pavements, and to allow a speed of twenty miles per hour of such vehicles. A list of questions was prepared and submitted to the public and a public hearing was afforded on the matter, correspondence with other cities was had, and interviews with travelers and city officials, and observations by some of the committee of the workings of traffic rules in other places convinced the committee that certain modifications of the existing ordinance was advisable and report accordingly and submit as a result of such report a draft of a tentative ordinance amending existing ordinance drawn by Mayor Canfield at the committee's request.

Wanted to Think It Over.
A copy of the proposed ordinance was on each alderman's desk before the meeting convened, and after it had been read by City Clerk Cummings Alderman Kullman arose and said that he did not think it right to bring up the question at this meeting without giving one a chance to think it over.

Intelligent Action Later.
Alderman Schick said "I don't think we should act on this ordinance at this meeting, and move it be laid on the table until the next meeting when we can take intelligent action on it."

The motion was carried.

The Proposed Ordinance.

The proposed ordinance suggested by the laws and rules committee is as follows:

City Ordinance—An ordinance to amend an ordinance entitled "An ordinance regulating traffic on the public streets of the city of Kingston," passed August 15th, 1911.

The common council of the city of Kingston do ordain as follows:

Section 1.—Section 10 of article 1 of an ordinance passed August 15th, 1911, entitled "An ordinance regulating traffic on the public streets of the city of Kingston," is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Section 10.—No vehicle, unless in an emergency or to allow a train or trolley car or another vehicle or pedestrian to cross its path, shall stop in any public street except near and when practicable within six inches of the right hand curb thereof and so as not to obstruct a crossing or street intersection.

Section 12.—Section 12 of article 1 of said ordinance is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

The Near and Far Side.

Section 12.—A person operating or in charge of a street railway car shall cause it to stop on the far side of the street to discharge or take on passengers, except at the intersection of Broadway and Railroad avenue when proceeding easterly, and except at the city hall crossings and except at the intersection of Fair and Main streets when proceeding northerly along Fair street, and except at the intersection of Fair and John streets when proceeding southerly, at which points they shall cause such cars to stop on the near side of the street.

Section 3.—Article 1 of said ordinance is hereby amended by the addition of another section as follows:

Section 25.—No person shall cause or permit any vehicle driven by them or in their charge to be left standing in or upon any public street within ten feet of a street corner or of a city hydrant except for the purpose of permitting some one to alight from or enter such vehicle and then only for such length of time as may be necessary for such purpose.

Section 4.—Article 1 of said ordinance is hereby amended by the addition of another section as follows:

Section 26.—A person driving or in charge of any vehicle in any public street shall comply with all directions of a police officer in uniform, or upon displaying his badge if not in uniform, and with all traffic standards or signs placed by or at the direction of the police department, and with all signs placed by or at the direction of the board of public works or the superintendent thereof in connection with the building or repairing of any sewer, and the paving, improving or repairing of any street, and with all signs placed by or at the direction of the board of water commissioners or its superintendent, in connection with the laying or repairing of any water mains or pipes.

Glaring Headlights Forbidden.

Section 5.—Article IV of said ordinance is hereby amended by the addition of another section as follows:

Section 7.—A person driving or in charge of any vehicle shall not use or permit the use of any dazzling or glaring light, searchlight or spotlight on any street paved with brick or concrete or on any street when passing another vehicle.

Section 6.—Article IV of said ordinance is hereby further amended by the addition of another section as follows:

Section 8.—Every motor vehicle, whether stationary or in motion, while upon any street, shall, during the period from one-half hour after sunset to one-half hour before sunrise, display at least two lighted lamps on the front of such vehicle, and one on the rear of such vehicle, which shall also display a red light visible from the rear.

Section 7.—This ordinance shall be published twice in the daily papers of the city, and shall take effect immediately after the publication thereof.

WAYS TO TREAT A PEACH.

To prepare peaches for canning or preserving, or in fact almost any dish, remove the skin by plunging them in a wire basket into boiling water for two minutes, then the skins will come off easily.

Sweet Pickled Peaches.

—To seven pounds of peaches allow 3 1/2 pounds of white sugar, one quart of not too sharp vinegar, two ounces of cloves and two ounces of stick cinnamon. Peel the peaches and insert one or two cloves in each. Boil the sugar and vinegar with the cinnamon for five minutes, then put in the peaches. When the fruit is tender, remove it carefully from the sirup and put it into jars. Boil the sirup until reduced to nearly half and pour over the peaches.

An old-fashioned method of preserving peaches was to fill the jars with the whole fruit, peeled and covered with sugar; bury three feet in the ground below the frost.

Spiced Peaches.—For six pounds of fruit use three pounds of granulated sugar and one pint of vinegar. Put into the sugar and vinegar one ounce of cinnamon, which should be in a cheesecloth bag, and boil. When the mixture is boiling hot, place the peeled fruit in it and cook until tender. Put into jars and seal at once.

Peach Marmalade.—This may be made from the imperfect fruit, using three-fourths the weight of the fruit in sugar and half a pint of water to each pound of sugar. Make a sirup and add the peaches cut in small pieces. Boil until the mixture is thick, for about three-quarters of an hour. Put in jars or tumblers.

Canned Peaches.—Peel and halve the peaches, removing the pits. For four quarts of peaches use three pints of water and a pint of sugar. When the fruit is ready, drop into the boiling sirup and cook gently for ten minutes; seal at once. Peaches canned whole have a richer flavor than those with the pits removed, yet many prefer them so.

KINGSTON, N. Y., OCT. 4, 1916.

The visit of State Engineer and Surveyor Frank M. Williams and General William Wallace Wotherspoon, superintendent of Public Works, to Kingston on Monday in search of available sites for barge canal terminals calls attention to the splendid work accomplished by these two men since they have been in state office. State Engineer Williams, who is a resident of our neighboring county of Orange, was elected by the people two years ago and is a candidate for re-election. General Wotherspoon, who formerly was chief of staff of the United States Army, was the first man appointed to public position by Governor Whitman after his inauguration. The canal situation at the beginning of the Whitman administration was serious. The $101,000,000 bond issue voted by the people in 1910, was practically exhausted, and unless a sufficient amount to meet the monthly estimates earned by contractors was made available, all canal construction would stop. Governor Whitman advocated an appropriation sufficient to carry on the canal work until a new bond issue might be approved by the people; the legislature appropriated $3,654,000, and the following fall the people approved an additional bond issue of $27,000,000. The results under General Wotherspoon were at once noticeable; the twenty miles of barge canal completed was opened for navigation and the Oswego canal was opened for the first time in four years, contract development was spurred on to completion, and 290 miles of canal channels are now in use, of which 154 miles has been opened to commerce by the present State administration. Work has been systematized, useless jobs eliminated, claims have been settled and graft and scandal have disappeared. Was such a record made during the few years since Dix, Sulzer and Glynn?

What has been accomplished in other departments of State government under the Whitman administration has been duplicated in the State Highway Department. Of particular interest to every resident of Ulster county is the fact that after years of dilly-dallying it was not until the advent of the Whitman administration that steps actually were taken for the construction of the Sleighsborough bridge over the Rondout creek. Other administrations talked and made promises; the present administration by starting actual construction work displayed a determination to fulfill its promises and in that single act showed greater concern for the welfare of the county of Ulster than any other administration. It is deeds and not words that speak loudest. The opportunity of pushing the work on the Sleighsborough bridge project was open to Dix, Sulzer and Glynn, but they were unmindful of the rights of Ulster county citizens. To them the bridge project was a football of politics, and the plain intent of the legislature was disregarded. No working plans on which reliance could be placed were prepared under their administrations; no contract was let. The credit for accomplishing results lies plainly at the door of the present State administration, and the completion of the bridge, so anxiously begun, should not be entrusted to men who are strangers to the hopes and needs of the county of Ulster, to strangers whose desire to play petty politics most certainly would be liable to lead them into devious ways of breaking pledges in whose making they have had no part. The opportunity to do something was well within the reach of several groups of Democratic State officials but rather than grasp they spurned it. The same opportunity was presented to the present State administration, and as a result a contract for construction was signed and work has been actually begun. Does the record of Democratic control equal that of the Republican party?

In securing public improvements for Ulster county the hearty co-operation of local officials must not be lost sight of. During his entire term of office Senator Charles W. Walton has been indefatigable in his efforts to procure for Ulster county what the county justly deserved, and his efforts have been marked by success. The same record has been made by Assemblyman Abram P. Lefever of New Paltz and Assemblyman Henry R. DeWitt. Both Senator Walton and Assemblyman Lefever are candidates for re-election, and Joel Brink is well qualified to carry on the work of Mr. DeWitt. Road construction is progressing wonderfully in Ulster county, and contracts have been awarded whose completion will make Ulster even more greatly sought out by strangers than it has been heretofore. The record of accomplishment of Ulster's legislators includes an appropriation for the New Paltz Normal School, in securing which the county's representatives received the heartiest assistance from State officials. The Republican record is a record of constructive statesmanship, in whose making Ulster's representatives have taken no small part. Well qualified by training and previous experience, courteous and accommodating to constituents in even the most trivial matters, they have made friends both in Ulster county and at Albany whose assistance can be depended on in furthering Ulster's claims and in the assertion of the county's rights. The onward progress of improvement should not be sidetracked by changing our representatives at this critical juncture. Men experienced in accomplishment have led the county to success thus far and can and are anxious to lead still further. Having their record of accomplishment in view, the fate of the local candidates may well be left to the discriminating care of the voters who bear in mind the old but true saying that actions speak louder than words.

An Invaluable Recipe.

A young fellow, who has not long been married, usually confides his troubles to a friend whose matrimonial experience covers a period of twenty years.

One day the former remarked very despondently: "I said something to my wife she didn't like, and she hasn't spoken to me for two days."

The eyes of the old married man brightened. "Say, old top," he exclaimed eagerly, "can you remember what it was you said?"—New York Times.

A $5,000 Tip.

A wild-eyed, disheveled gentleman, apparently from the country, rushed into the police station, shouting he had been robbed.

Sergeant Pat Murnane finally succeeded in soothing him into coherency.

"Now, let's hear all about it," said Murnane.

Well, a half an hour before we reached St. Paul I had $5,000 in paper that I was bringing here to put in the bank. When I got outside the depot I couldn't find it anywhere. I don't know where it went. That money means a lot to me. If I don't—

"Now, now. Don't get excited again," exclaimed Murnane. "That train breaks up here. Maybe the porter saw your money when he was cleaning up. I'll send for him."

"Did you see anything of a small package when you were cleaning up your car?" Murnane asked when the porter arrived.

"Yes, sah. It's a lot of money, sah."

"Where is it now?"

"Here, sah," and he produced it from an inside pocket.

The gentleman from the country cheered up perceptibly when he saw the roll.

"That's it," he exclaimed. "And it's all here, the whole $5,000."

"Now, look here, porter, said Murnane severely. "I want to know why you didn't turn that package in the minute you found it."

"Why, sah," he replied in an injured tone, "I s'posed de gemman had left it for a tip."—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Every seat in the car was occupied when a group of women got in. Going through the car to collect fares, the conductor noticed a man who he thought was asleep.

"Wake up!" shouted the conductor.

"I wasn't asleep," said the passenger.

"Not asleep," snapped the conductor. "Then what did you have your eyes closed for?"

"It was because of the crowded condition of the car," explained the passenger. "I hate to see women standing."—Liverpool Post.

Not a Bad Idea, Either.

A young man went to a dentist the other day to have several teeth extracted. "I suppose I ought to take something to deaden the pain, but I'm afraid of this gas you use," said the prospective patient.

The dentist reassured him, and wound up with: "You'll only be unconscious two or three minutes at most." The patient took out his pocketbook.

"Never mind that now," said the dentist. "You can pay me when I've finished."

"I wasn't going to pay you!" exclaimed the patient. "I was going to count my money!"—All Around Magazine.

Only Routine Business.

The police board held its regular meeting on Tuesday evening at police headquarters, but only routine business was transacted.

By La Racquette.

An extremely beautiful and attractive hat is shown here. It is an adaptation of the "kiddie" conventional sailor cap. The material is navy blue velvet with a band of French blue gros grain ribbon which ends in long streamers. Winged stars in silver gild the front, lending a fine atmosphere. This hat looks especially well with a tailored suit of navy mohair with seal for trimming.

Took It to Herself.

There was a short, round woman standing in one of the ample doorways of the capitol, and there were other women about her. The short, round woman, however, was conspicuously present. A courteous senator came along with a couple of friends and remarked:

"I guess that we can get around this crowd."

"Don't you call me a crowd!" indignantly shouted the round woman, and the senator went on, smiling, but saying nothing.—Detroit Free Press.

Compensations of Life.

The injustice of society in distributing its rewards is exactly equaled by its injustice in inflicting punishments.—Life.

Horsepower.

Horsepower, which is a term adopted as a unit in estimating force, is strictly theoretical and is much greater than most horses have the strength to perform. It is the force required to raise 33,000 pounds one foot high in one minute. A rough way to estimate the power of a steam engine is to multiply together the area of the piston in inches, the mean steam pressure in pounds per square inch, the length of stroke in feet and the number of strokes per minute and divide the product by 33,000.

Unimportant Theft.

"Too bad about Jags. Fancy a man as Shakespeare says, putting an enemy into his mouth to steal away his brains." "Oh, well, it's only petty larceny in Jags' case, anyway."

IS TALKING ABOUT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 4.—The tariff is one of the greatest issues of this campaign, according to Hon. Myron T. Herrick, former Ambassador to France. "In all the manufacturing states employers and employees are asking the same question: What will happen to us if the war ends before the Underwood bill is revised?" says Mr. Herrick, and he adds, "The same question is being asked by the farmers in every agricultural community. They have not forgotten what the Underwood bill did to the prices of their products before the war created the present extraordinary demand, and they have no desire to see a return of those prices. In Ohio, the skilled workmen keenly recall the hard times that followed the passage of the Underwood bill. Why, my own city of Cleveland had to raise $160,000 to provide work for men who were thrown out of employment, in order to save them from bread-lines and soup-kitchens. The end of the European war, which certainly will not be prolonged beyond the end of the administration elected in November, will subject the financial and industrial interests of this country to a severe strain which will be felt by every businessman and woman who votes in this election. Right now, although the countries from which we chiefly import are cut off by the war, our imports are the largest they have ever been in the history of the country. At the present rate, our imports for the present year will exceed those of any recent year by $5,000,000.

Wilson Wins.

President Wilson has won his personally conducted election—not in the United States but in Nicaragua. Emiliano Chamorro, Mr. Wilson's choice, was elected by a light vote. The polling places were policed by armed American marines and the supporters of Dr. Mas, the Liberal candidate, were afraid to approach the polls. This is the official information which has come to Washington through diplomatic channels, and it has been confirmed by Rear Admiral Caperton, in command of the American squadron designated to insure Chamorro's election. Admiral Caperton says, "Our position is that the election should be honestly and openly conducted and the action of those who refrained from voting 'was unjustifiable.' The foolish Nicaraguans, knowing that President Wilson had chosen their candidate for president and had sent the armed forces of the United States to supervise the election, were afraid to vote. They actually feared Woodrow Wilson's passionate enthusiasm for liberty."

Wilson and Mexico.

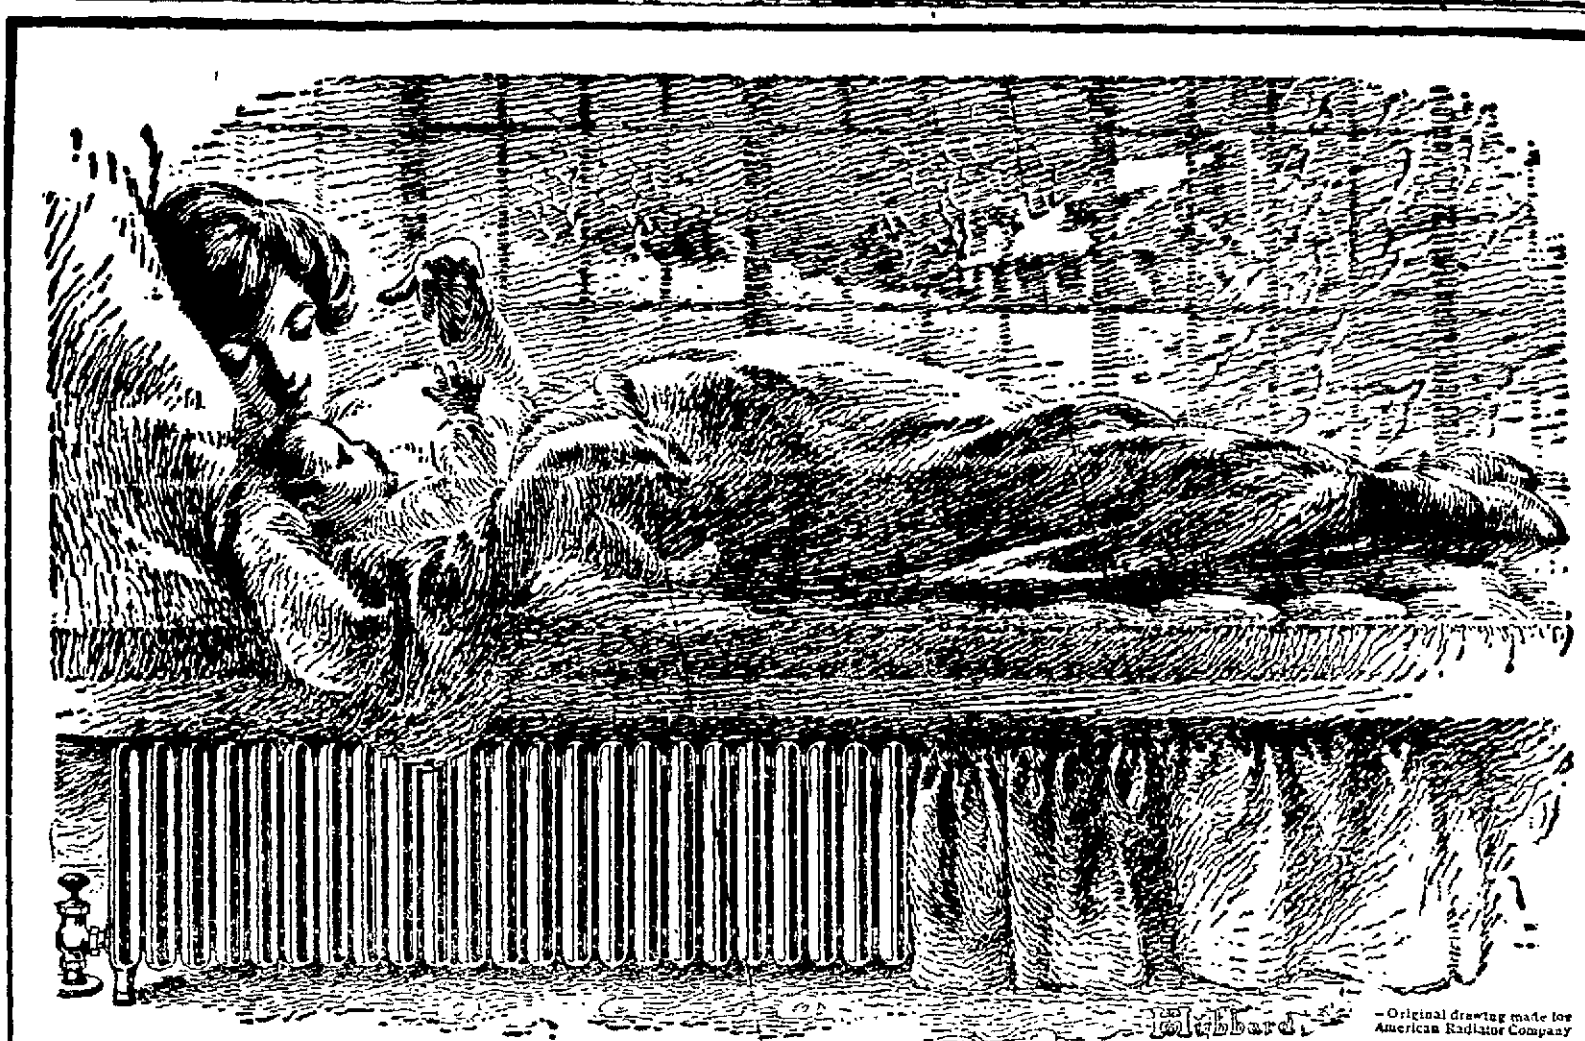

"Since Carranza's recognition we have seen Americans who have gone into Mexico on peaceful errands murdered; we have seen our own towns upon the border raided and Americans slain on American soil. These outrages prompted the president to send our own troops into Mexico, and this course cannot be otherwise construed than as a recognition of the fact that the de facto government in Mexico, recognized by ourselves and by other nations, is not fulfilling the duty which one government owes to another. Mexico is a bad neighbor now. There is no use denying this. We live at peace with Canada on our northern border, without a soldier along the 3,000 miles of land while, as a matter of necessity, we are obliged to keep an armed force on our Mexican border all of the time, and have now gathered there the largest army assembled in the United States since the Civil War." This striking comment on "watchful waiting," President Wilson's recognition of Carranza, and the fallacy that "he has kept us out of war," does not emanate from a hostile Republican. The words were penned by none other than Mr. Wilson's own secretary of the interior, the Hon. Franklin K. Lane, in a series of articles now running in various newspapers.

Impertinent Miners.

Impudent and presumptuous American citizens who have gone into Mexico, risking their lives and their capital, and in many instances the lives of their families, have had the presumption to disturb the serene and friendly proceedings of the Mexican conference by thrusting before it a record of Carranza's depredations, his confiscations and other outrages on Americans and their property interests. They actually demanded protection of life and property; provision for transportation of their products and food-stuffs and taxes which are neither prohibitive nor confiscatory. And they had the temerity to admit that they represented investments in Mexico amounting to upwards of $250,000,000. What they expected to accomplish by such rude interruption and such a confession it is difficult to conceive in view of the fact that all Americans of their class have been informed by the state department, during this administration, that they are mere adventurers, unpatriotically seeking to make money outside of their own country. Indeed, only last Saturday President Wilson referred to them as creatures so base that they desire "that kind of law and order which some investors in Mexico consider most to their advantage."

Gold Bricks.

There was indignation in Democratic circles when your correspondent issued a warning to farmers against investing their funds in the wildcat bank schemes being formed under the federal farm loan act, and intimations that the warning was prompted by partisan prejudice; but it was a real evil and the warning was timely, as is now proved by the fact that the extent of the evil has compelled the federal farm loan board to issue from Washington a similar warning. Stock is being sold to farmers which amounts to little more than gold bricks. It is being sold in farm banks "when and if organized" and the board says that the "lits" will in most instances probably

FIVE Reasons why you should wear "GOSSARD" CORSETS

FIRST—Decide that your figure is individual—that you need a corset designed for you, and it should be a front-lace corset.

SECOND—Go to the store where competent graduate corsetiers are employed. Insist on an experienced sales person for your fitting.

THIRD—Remember that your corset dollars go farther if you select two corsets at a time. One for home wear and another for social engagements and street wear.

FOURTH—Unless the corset you select gives you all day comfort, good wearing service, and style that is exclusive, your corset fails regardless of what you pay for it.

FIFTH—You can forget the other rules if the Gossard label is sewn in your corset. There is a Gossard for every figure.

An expert corsetier will deem it a pleasure to fit you without obligation to a Special Gossard designed for your figure at DOCTORS GET POINTS ON T. B.

A well attended meeting of the Medical Society of the County of Ulster was held in the mayor's office in the city hall on Tuesday evening and although the addresses and discussions lasted until 11 o'clock, there was the keenest interest displayed until the last minute and none of those present felt that the time had been wasted.

The feature of the evening was an address by Dr. Robert Abrahams of New York city, who is connected with the Post, Graduate Hospital and School, on Incipient Tuberculosis. Dr. Abrahams dwelt on the necessity for an early diagnosis and then proceeded to tell how to make it, giving the doctors many new points that he has proved the value of in practice. His explanation and illustration of methods of examination by percussion were especially full and enlightening and were made plain by being carried out on a patient of one of the members of the society. The proper use of the stethoscope was also exemplified on the patient.

Dr. Abrahams is a pleasing and interesting speaker, illuminating his address by occasional flashes of wit and Dr. Stern voiced the sentiments of the other members when in moving a vote of thanks he said that the address was the best he had ever heard.

A discussion of typhoid followed, led by Dr. John S. Becker of Highland and Dr. A. S. Vrooman of this city, both of whom cited cases that had come under their observation. Dr. Abrahams advocated the use of auto serum not only in typhoid but in all septic diseases and told how easily the serum could be made in a few hours and administered.

Dr. Vrooman referred to three typhoid epidemics in this city that had followed the course of milk routes and that had been traced in each instance to a carrier who was employed in the dairy. He thought it would be a very effective means of prevention if dairy employees were required to be tested for typhoid.

The effectiveness of typhoid vaccination as a preventive was conceded by all the speakers, but all were of the opinion that it had little effect, or perhaps a bad effect, as a remedy.

At the business session, which preceded the scientific session, nominations of officers for the coming year were made as follows:

President, Dr. C. V. Hasbrouck of Rosendale.

Vice president, Dr. Crawford of Saugerties.

Secretary, Dr. Ingalls of Kingston.

Treasurer, Dr. Norwood of Kingston.

Censors, Drs. Stern, Gates, Snyder, Ross and Eastman.

Delegate to State Medical Society Convention, Dr. Stern; alternate, Dr. Vrooman.

Delegate to Third District Branch, Dr. Gates; alternate, Dr. Gillette.

Dr. Emerick made an interesting report of the last meeting of the Third District Branch to which he was a delegate.

Those present at the meeting were Drs. Eastman, Bongartz, Vrooman, Ingalls, Lambert, Simonds, Keator, O'Meara, Mablen, Day, Gates, Van Wagenen, Norwood, Gillette, Stern, Nelson, Larkin, Hasbrouck and Rice of this city, Emerick and Crawford of Saugerties, Becker of Highland and Camp of Woodstock.

The congregation of the New Hurley Church will pay their annual devotion visit to their pastor at the parsonage on Wednesday evening, October 11. All are cordially invited.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Jenkins entertained Mrs. Mary Jenkins and four sons of New Paltz, Henry Jenkins and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Ayres of Wallkill on Sunday, October 1.

Not Very Flattering.

Bobby, aged five, though just two years his sister Lucy's senior, was fatherly toward her, always explaining everything to her that she had the least doubt about. One day we overheard this little lecture on the discrimination between beans and human beings: "Now, baby, a bean is something that's good to eat, but a human bean—why, that's a lady."

Problem of Health Solved.

More than half of preventive medicine centers around the kitchen. The cook is the arbiter in large measure of the ceaseless battle between life and death. Given good food, pure water, plenty of fresh air and cleanliness of person; and the problem of good health is solved. With these, all that is further necessary is reasonable hours and exercise.

MORBUS SABBATICUS.

Symptoms of And Cure For a Very Prevalent Disease.

An old friend of The Freeman sends the following letter and clipping for publication:

Dear Sir:—I enclose herewith a clipping that my wife would like very much to have passed around among the Freeman readers. The good wife does not say so in words, but I think she has an idea that the article hits me pretty hard, and perhaps there are others:

Morbus Sabbaticus.

Morbus Sabbaticus, or Sunday sickness, is a disease often prevalent, sometimes epidemic, always malignant and ultimately fatal—to the soul. It manifests itself on the first day of the week, sometimes called "the Lord's day." It never lasts more than twenty-four hours. No physician is ever called. The physical constitution is not impaired; only the soul suffers.

Symptoms.—The attack comes on suddenly every Sunday; no symptoms are felt on Saturday night; the patient sleeps well and wakes feeling well; he eats a hearty breakfast, but about church time the attack comes on and continues until services are over for the morning. The patient then feels better and eats a hearty dinner, after which he feels much better and is able to spend the afternoon walking, automobiling or reading the Sunday papers. There is no impairment of the appetite at supper time; he spends a comfortable night and is able to go to work as usual Monday morning. There is no return of the attack until the following Sunday.

Remedy.—"Be not deceived; God is not mocked; whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap."—Galatians 6: 7.

It's Usually So.

Either Jane

Or John

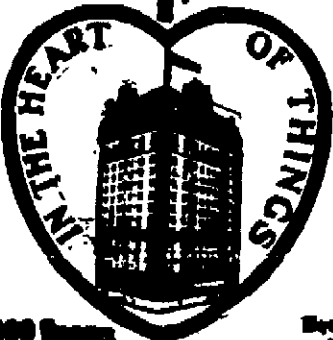

You know young folks are a lot like old folks. How you and all of us dislike to work at a desk that isn't interesting! It is the same with these young people. Now that school days are about here again—you can't expect them to study in the living room with the rest of the family. The work doesn't progress as it should. Yet you must not blame them for putting off the dull moment when they must go to the books, alone and with uninteresting surroundings. Instead, make Jane's room, or John's, a place where study is a pleasure. It doesn't cost much. Look at the table which we show here with two very simple settings. The charm is there and the attraction. It isn't how much you pay that counts; it's what you buy. Let us help fit up John's room, or Jane's, before school time comes.

CITY FATHERS IN BUSY SESSION

Bacharach's Petition That Railroad be Allowed to Lay Switch to Old Car Barn Granted—Alderman Schick Wanted to Know.

The city fathers held an important and interesting session at the regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening at the city hall. President Crane presided with Alderman Smith, Schick, Leverich, Parish, Fischer, Kullmann, Shultis, Brown, Connelly, Hull and Purvis present. The absentees were Alderman McKittick and Marquardt.

The committee on railroads reported that it had considered the petition of Mark Bacharach asking that the West Shore railroad be granted permission to lay a switch from the main tracks into the old car barn where Mr. Bacharach intends to open a foundry. The committee reported in favor of and granted the petition, and Alderman Smith's motion that the report be adopted was carried.

Weshaler & Mills, the expert accountants submitted a report consisting of several hundred pages on their work in examining the books of the city. They also wrote that they would do the work again next year at a desired total cost not to exceed $1,000. Referred to committee on ways and means.

City Treasurer Doreman reported a balance to the credit of the city in all funds of $178,875.51.

Alderman Fischer moved that the corporation counsel be authorized to appear and defend the city assessor in the certiorari proceedings brought by Mrs. C. B. O'Reilly, F. J. Schmidt and the West Shore railroad. Carried.

Alderman Schick introduced a resolution that the next regular meeting of the council be held on November 8. Carried.

Alderman Kullmann offered a resolution that each alderman be authorized to have polling places ready for registration and Election Day. Carried.

Alderman Schick said that before an adjournment was taken he would like to say a few words. At the last meeting of the common council he had introduced a resolution calling upon the mayor, the board of public works and the Chamber of Commerce to reopen the stone crusher which had been closed down by the board of public works. The alderman wanted it distinctly understood that he was opposed to using down the quarry and stopping the street work as early as the present time. He said, "I would like to have the Chamber of Commerce here to explain how much it costs to quarry stone at the stone crusher." The alderman said that the board of public works had made a much larger appropriation to carry on its work than the old street committee, and yet it had not made any report to the common council who did not know how much the board had spent or what for. "We are ignored in everything," exclaimed Mr. Schick. He did not see why the board of public works did not let the city fathers know what they were doing. "I am not knocking the board of public works, but I think we should know what is being done." Two seconds after he had finished and sat down Alderman Schick moved to adjourn which was unanimously carried.

USEFUL WORK BY ULSTER GARDEN CLUB

On Tuesday afternoon the Ulster Garden Club met at the home of Mrs. James O. Winston at Saugerties and by means of annual reports and a summarizing of its efforts, proved that it had accomplished a most creditable amount of work along the lines of its particular activity in the community. The influence of this club is being felt with increasing benefit in the community, and beyond its confines, having aroused both a sentimental and practical interest that is far reaching. Mrs. John D. Schoonmaker, president, presided for the last time at present, and it was the unanimous opinion of the club members that much of the success of the organization had been due to the interest and efficiency of the president, and the harmonious and loyal support of the club members.

Those who have been interested in the work of this body will note that the time of its annual meeting has been changed from spring to fall (October). This change was made to accord with the expressed wish of the Garden Clubs of America, (meeting at Lenox this summer), of which organization the Ulster Garden Club is an affiliated member. The national body desired that there should be a uniformity of annual meetings in order that the national society might have at its command reports from all such smaller clubs when the time for the national annual meeting in January occurs.

The Winston home was beautifully and artistically decorated with autumnal flowers and the large number of club members present, were informed, entertained and charmed with a talk on "The Flora of Ulster County," given by Mrs. William Lawton, whose knowledge of this subject and love of the too often despised roadside wild flowers of her native county is remarkable in its accuracy, comprehensiveness and sympathetic appreciation. This talk, which surprised many and fascinated all, was amply illustrated with specimens of native autumnal wild flowers, including both the closed and fringed gentians. A charming incident of the meeting was the delight of little Miss Jaquelin Winston, in seeing these two flowers, whose fairy history as told by Mr. Faulkner, when he gave his illustrated lecture at the high school on "Cross Fertilization," held her attention as it did of many another child. By request the little daughter of the home repeated the story of the Fairy Queen, caught out one night beyond the witching hour, who knocked a door of a gentian for admittance and protection. With reproof for the lateness of her wanderings, was she met, and as the floral door would not open to her, the Queen consigned this flower to its present state of being what is known as the "closed gentian." Trying the hospitality of another posy, she found entrance and a beautiful flower was given an added decoration of fringe to its already beautiful blue gown, and we have the "fringed gentian." In the telling of this story the club had actual proof of the good accomplished by bringing Mr. Faulkner to talk of flowers as he did, to the people of Kingston.

So much enthusiasm was aroused in the subject of our native flowers, that in the future the Ulster Garden Club will have a committee on the "Preservation of Native Wild Flowers." There is a similar committee in the Garden Clubs of America. The Mrs. Tappen, chairman of the "School Children's Gardens," gave her report of the finished work for this season and it proved to be the story of much good accomplished. Working along the same lines as during the previous year the children, their parents and their neighbors, as well as the principals, and teachers of the public schools had shown increased interest. The plan of garden inspection had been somewhat changed owing to the prevalent conditions in the city this summer, and instead of members of the club visiting the garden, the services of Mr. Service of the high school, who had had considerable actual experience in garden inspection at New Brunswick and Bridgeport, had been secured. Having complete confidence in his experience and judgment, entire satisfaction had been expressed on all sides over his awarding of the prizes. The Garden Club, gave this fall, four special prizes of $2 each, for the best vegetable garden in any of the school districts; the best flower garden; the best vegetable and flower garden combined and the most artistic garden. Prizes of $1.25 each were given in each school district to the child over ten years of age, for the best vegetable, and the best flower garden; and of $1 each for the best vegetable and the best flower garden to the child in each school district under ten years of age. While the main good derived from these children's gardens accrued to the children themselves, a very real improvement in the appearance of the gardens in the neighborhoods where the children were thus occupied, was shown as a by-product, and the Ulster Garden Club decided as a result of Mrs. Tappen's careful report, and the showing of its two years' efforts to continue this work making it even more comprehensive and effective another year.

The Ulster Garden Club has proposed to the Garden Clubs of America, for affiliation, the name of a new club, the Philipstown Garden Club of Garrison, and has secured the seconding of its recommendation. This will make three clubs, the Orange and Dutchess Garden Clubs, the Ulster Garden Club and the Philipstown Garden Club, along the Hudson river. It is the aim of these bodies to co-operate closely and inaugurate in this beautiful garden spot of the empire state, an added love and interest in the absorbing and valuable work of gardening whether flowers or vegetables be the ultimate aim.

At the close of the regular business the election of officers took place, resulting unanimously as follows: President, Mrs. Francis J. Higginson; first vice-president, Mrs. William Lawton; second vice-president, Mrs. George Hutton; third vice-president, Mrs. John Washburn of Saugerties; secretary, Miss Sarah Horton; treasurer, Mrs. Charles Tappen. On the retirement of Mrs. Schoonmaker, Mrs. Williams Carey, and Miss Mary Haldane, the founders of the club, and the first three-year members of the board of gardeners, the following members of the board of gardeners were chosen: For three years, Mrs. E. Coykendall and Mrs. William Warren; for two years, Mrs. George Washburn and Mrs. C. E. Reed of Saugerties; for one year, Mrs. Charles Finch and Mrs. Frank Phelps of Saugerties. The chairman of the various committees will be announced later. Mrs. Schoonmaker, the retiring president, laid down the gavel with a few earnest and appreciative words, expressive of her gratitude for the loyalty and support of all club members in upholding the practical and aesthetic ideals of the organization and its efforts to be a real and potent factor in the community for a more wholesome and happier outlook on life through the loved and maintenance of gardens.

While working unostentatiously, the entire community feels today the impetus toward better and more attractive home surroundings, and a clearer knowledge of our door life through the efforts of the Ulster Garden Club.

MORE RIOTING IN TRACTION STRIKE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 4.—Renewed outbreaks of rioting marked the traction strike today.

Root lurkers sympathizing with striking carmen injured four persons in attacks on elevated trains. Windows were shattered by stones and passengers hit by missiles and flying glass. Surface cars were also attacked and many windows were smashed.

A big demonstration is being arranged by families of striking traction employees to add the men to their walk-out. Wives, mothers, daughters, sisters and sweethearts of the strikers will participate. "Mother" Jones, prominent in many strikes throughout the country was a leading figure in the movement. A meeting will be held tomorrow at which plans will be arranged for a mammoth parade. It is expected at least 3,000 will march through the streets.

HOTELS MUST REPORT.

Boards Must be Reported to State Election Department.

Deputy State Superintendent of Elections, John J. Gardiner, in charge of the Third Judicial Department, has sent out one thousand hotel and lodging house reports. The law requires that these reports shall be properly filled out and verified by the proprietors of each hotel and lodging house and returned to the office of the State Superintendent of Elections on October 9. Each report must show the names of every qualified voter residing at such hotel or boarding house under date of October 3.

Last year there seemed to be considerable difficulty regarding the return of these reports for the reason that a hotel or boarding house proprietor who did not have a qualified voter residing at such place did not return the report for the reason that he believed it was useless under such conditions.

The law, however, is that these reports must be returned properly verified whether or not there are any such qualified voters residing at such hotel or boarding house. Penalties are attached to the failure of any hotel or boarding house proprietor to return these reports. Any hotel or boarding house proprietor who fails to receive one of these blank reports should notify the office of the State Superintendent of Elections, No. 55 N. Pearl St., Albany, N. Y., of such fact so that a report may be forwarded to him to enable him to comply with the law.

No Place for Garbage.

No garbage was collected Tuesday in Poughkeepsie because there was no place to dump it. The town of Poughkeepsie has placed a ban on further dumping of garbage there because of the failure to keep it properly covered.

Sale by the Sheriff.

Sheriff Shultz has levied upon the goods and personal property of Frederick S. Benedict and they will be sold next Tuesday morning at the storage rooms of Harry P. Carr, on Clinton avenue to the highest bidder.

Miss Grace Hallock of Marlborough, a recent graduate of Mt. Holyoke College, will be one of the speakers at a suffrage rally in Catskill Saturday.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Rice, of 365 Broadway will be "at home" from 3 until 6 o'clock Sunday, October 15th, on the occasion of their golden wedding.

All members of Willoughby Chapter, D. A. R., are reminded of the first autumnal meeting of the chapter, to be held Thursday afternoon at the usual hour, three o'clock, at the chapter house. With the program in charge of Mrs. George DuBois and Mrs. Philip Deyo of New Paltz, and Mrs. Schermerhorn and Mrs. Sanderson as hostesses, an unusually delightful afternoon is promised.

Rundie-Quick.

William A. Rundie and Mrs. Anna Elizabeth Quick, both of Taylor, Penn., were married at the parsonage of the Church of the Comforter by Rev. Wilbur F. Stow on Monday evening, October 2, at 8 o'clock. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Claude V. Hazard, of 16 Henry street, this city. Mrs. Hazard is a sister of the bride. The happy couple have the good wishes of many friends.

Cragan-Murphy.

The marriage of Miss Julia Murphy and Joseph Cragan of this city took place on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 1st, at St. Francis De Sales Church, Herkimer, N. Y. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Harrigan. The maid of honor was Miss Katherine Nulty of this city and the groom was attended by Edward Costello of this city. Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Cragan quietly returned to their newly furnished home, where a wedding supper was served. Both young people are very popular and have a host of friends, who wish them a long and happy married life. They will reside in Herkimer, N. Y. Twentieth Century Club.

The Twentieth Century Club held the first meeting of the 1916-17 season on Monday afternoon of this week, at the home of Mrs. Hyman Roosa on Fair Street. This club is making a study this year of "The Great Northwest." The roll call for the afternoon was that of vacation experiences, and as related by those present presented many interesting, informing and humorous viewpoints on life during the past few months. The first paper of the afternoon, on "The Early History of California," was interestingly given by Mrs. Virgil B. Van Wageningen. Mrs. Roosa, the hostess had the main paper, however, her subject being "Experiences from a Note Book on a Western Trip," in which the writer, entertainingly and vividly described her personal impressions of the land being studied by the club. Readings from Bret Harte were given by Mrs. Vrooman, and following the literary program, Mrs. Roosa served refreshments. The club will meet next Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. W. Harrison on Clinton avenue.

Eltinge-Osterhoudt.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Walker on Warren street, was the setting, this afternoon, at four o'clock, of a quiet October wedding of interest to the people of Kingston, for at that hour William S. Eltinge, the highly esteemed and popular druggist, and Miss Ella H. Osterhoudt, sister of Mrs. Walker, one of Kingston's most finished musicians and honored daughters, were married. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Frank B. Seelye, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church, where Miss Osterhoudt has been the efficient and highly appreciated organist for the past six years. Palms and chrysanthemums decorated the home artistically, and formed the background for the bridal party during the ceremony. W. Whitting, Frederickburgh presided at the piano, playing the wedding music. The bride was handsomely gowned in white net trimmed with silver lace, and carried bride roses. The only attendants were three little flower girls, Marion and Isabelle Darrow, cousins of the bride, and Natalie DeWitt, niece of the groom, who were exceedingly dainty in white lingerie gowns and who carried baskets of asters. Following the ceremony, a fine collation was served those present being only the intimate friends and families of the bride and groom, whose hosts of friends are today wishing them all happiness for their future life together. On their return from their wedding journey Mr. and Mrs. Eltinge will make their home on John street.

RALLY DAY SERVICES.

Mayor Canfield Speaks in the Church of the Comforter.

Rally Sunday was observed last Sunday at all the services of the Reformed Church of the Comforter. The auditorium was filled to capacity at all the services. The church was most beautiful with its decoration of flowers and flags. In the morning the pastor preached on "The Great Importance of Our Work," in which he urged the people to even greater loyalty in their support of the spiritual and financial interests of the church. At the noon hour the Bible school held a special service, and it was a most cheering sight to see the large number of boys and girls present, who have been deprived of the services of the church and Bible school the past three months, inspiring addresses were given by Messrs. Raschke and Shufeldt, former superintendents of the school. These were followed with a most interesting address by Mayor Canfield, in which he urged all to be faithful in attendance upon the services of the church. George Hadler sang a beautiful solo very effectively. In the evening the pastor preached on "Glorifying God's House." Master Ross Sheldon Voght sang as a solo "Open the Gates of the Temple." This was greatly enjoyed by the congregation. Altogether, it was a day not soon to be forgotten by the members and friends of the church.

To Amuse a Convalescent Child. Get one of the common toy balloons of bright color. Tie a piece of newspaper to the end of the string, tear off or add to the paper until the balloon is balanced, and give to the child to turn loose in the room. It will perform the most curious antics, constantly changing and going about the room exploring everything due to the air currents.

Aversion. "Some people say that things that were good enough for their fathers and their grandfathers are good enough for them," said Shaller Matthews "They are not. This is an age of progress. It is well enough to have ancestors, but it is greater to be an ancestor. It is better to be like the best of your grandfathers than like your grandfather was."

STREET GOSSIP ABOUT TOWN

"I am a rich man and I sail over land and sea in my yacht," declared the actor playing the wealthy man in "Married for Money," at the Orpheum one day this week.

"Must own a prairie schooner," muttered a man in the audience.

"Even a bum values his own life more than anything else in the world," writes B. B.

"Money is of absolutely no use unless you can spend it," is the opinion advanced by Old Subscriber.

"Speaking of poetry," writes Constant Reader, "I enclose a three line tragedy, as follows:"

Roller Skates
Strap Breaks
Golden Gates.

"That man is evidently an expert accountant," said the street corner politician to his friend as he pointed to a young man lounging on the street corner watching the young women as they passed.

"How do you make that out?" asked the friend.

"Why he is evidently a great admirer of figures," replied the politician with a smile.

"I have been reading the tales of the city streets," writes little Willie, who attends high school, "and I send herewith an important event of American history found in Kingston's street directory." The enclosure read:

Washington
Crossing
Delaware.

Tense moments—
Popping the question.
Hooking a big one.
Hitting for a loan.
Dodging an auto.
Coming home late.
Striking for a raise.
Three on buses, two out.
Getting the milliner's bill.

Official Democratic organ is out with a statement: that the barbers' union endorse Martin who is running for member of assembly on the Democratic ticket. One or two other unions have also endorsed Martin according to the official organ which leads Old Subscriber to glance through the Kingston street directory and evolve the following:

Union
Crown
Martin.

It is easy enough to endorse, but electing—why, that is another question.

After November 7 a sign will be hung on the door to the local Democratic headquarters reading, "Please omit flowers."

Five a Week Off

An Honest Man Relieved of Suspicion of Guilt

By ELI MOFFATT MILLEN

Copyright by Frank A. Munsey Co.

The "credit man" laughed and drew his heavy chair closer into the circle. He glanced at his watch.

"I will just have time to give you one story. Then I must go," he said. "Most of you will remember the character killing publicity given several years ago to a man of the name of John Goode. He was a defaulter, you will recall, and he has never explained what became of his rich uncle, who disappeared as off the face of the earth.

"John Goode had not been with our concern long when the tin broke loose. He had been there long enough, however, to become a friend of the treasurer.

"The treasurer of our entire system is a woman. They say it takes a woman to read the small type on a man's soul.

"John Goode came along—I have forgotten now in what capacity at first, but he got along. He was a soft spoken individual when he did speak. There was an open faced directness about him. The heads of the firm liked him, but he did not throw himself much in their way. He did not draw down a very heavy envelope and had a wife and three children to keep out of that. I used to wonder how he managed it, for he did not have the look of a man in want. He was always neatly dressed. I saw his family with him one evening, and they were neatly dressed.

"Soft spoken, did I say? Yes, allowing for certain provocations. There was one subject, whenever it was mentioned, that brought him to emphatic words. He never hesitated to state that he believed a man's word should be his bond, whether there were other iron-clad agreements or not.

"Somehow I could not help wondering a bit how far he would go with his theories. I found out.

"One day I overheard him ask one of the boys for $5 till the next pay day. He was refused for the sufficient reason that the other fellow did not have it, but he was told that the treasurer at times advanced a little if she was satisfied with her character reading.

"Goode went to the treasurer. He got the five, which, of course, was to be deducted from his next envelope. That was the small part of it.

"He stood by the treasurer's desk for half an hour after he had asked for the five. The five was not returned.

and the treasurer so I was told, smiled when he left her as if she had been honored by the visit.

"One day, when Goode had been with us about a year, I went into the treasurer's office to get her opinion about one of our former boys who had gone into business for himself. She gave her opinion quickly and began to talk about our boys.

"And don't you think we have got a model in Mr. Goode?" she asked.

"Oh, I don't know," I answered.

"Why?"

"I let him have a good deal of money this morning—that is, for the sale

"BUT—BUT," MISS SUSIE STAMMERED.

"I LET HIM HAVE MORE THAN THAT."

"He is getting," she said—and I am wondering if I ought to have done it."

"Just here let me state for your enlightenment that Miss Susie was not a debutante. Her face was smooth and unwrinkled as a baby's, but her eyes were not coquettish. The silver was beginning to run in his glistering streaks through her hair.

"A temptingly large amount? I asked to avoid putting a more direct question.

"One hundred and sixty-five dollars. He offered to tell me what for, but I told him I only cared to know that he would deal honorably with me. I am to take five a week off."

"And he gets fifteen a week, eh?"

"I turned and walked out. Even with my back to her I could feel that she was watching me anxiously.

"At the door I met Mr. Merrick.

"Miss Susie, I heard him say, 'give Mr. Goode a week's salary in advance if he calls. He asked for a week's vacation this morning, and as he has been doing such good work I told him to call and get his next week's salary in advance.'

"I pressed.

"But—but," Miss Susie stammered. "I let him have more than that. I advanced him $165."

"Where-ron?" whistled Mr. Merrick. "Isn't that taking a good deal in your own hands, Miss Susie? We have given you authority to help the boys with limited amounts, if you think they are worthy, but I am afraid you have done it to a broken old time."

"He ran his hand through his hair meditatively.

"Oh, well, never mind," he added kindly. "I don't know that you have bungled so badly. I believe he will not take advantage of it."

"Goode did not call for his week's advance the president had so kindly offered. He left the office at noon.

"Goode had been gone three days when the papers told a story about detectives from another city up the state looking for a defaulting bank cashier in our city.

"His name was John Goode.

"He had been gone a year. His shortage and absconding had been covered up by the bank officials all that time, mainly that they might hunt him down on the quiet. A bungling detective had let it out.

"Miss Susie would not hear of giving a hint of our knowledge of Goode to the detectives. Mr. Merrick was called in. Miss Susie convinced him that not a word should go out from us.

"We can do our own investigating when his week's vacation is up," she said. "I am satisfied to wait till then. He will come back."

"He will be back," declared Miss Susie confidently. "If he does not I will take my medicine. Not until."

"That afternoon detectives found a Mrs. John Goode, who had just taken rooms in a cheap hotel far downtown. She confessed that Goode had left her several days before. She did not know where he had gone. He had married her only the month previous.

"Two days later, the day before John Goode's vacation was up, the papers found an entirely new story that interested the city.

"A rich old bachelor who had lived alone was missing. His house was locked up. It was recalled by the neighbors that he had not been seen for more than a week. They had heard him say that he had only one relative and that relative was a man without a home. The old man had never before gone away.

"Had some mishap befallen him?"

"In the search for the old fellow his house and its contents were gone over. A copy of his will was found in his old drop lid walnut desk.

"A clause in the will contained the name of John Goode.

"John Goode, according to the clause, was a nephew. He was cut off from participating in the estate. The old man evidently distrusted him.

"A little old safe had been pried open, and an empty canvas money bag lay in front of it. It was easy to surmise what had happened to the old man. You recall the case.

"The detectives took a trail a week old, but declared that it was still a hot one.

"Miss Susie still refused to let me offer our information, which, strange to relate, had not leaked out.

"You are hindering justice! You are in contempt of law! You are an accessory after the fact!" I told her.

"Tomorrow night, if John Goode has not returned, you may go ahead," she answered. "If you wait you may be glad."

"One of the first things I had to do the next morning was to go into Miss Susie's office on another matter. As I finished my business with Miss Susie she looked me squarely in the eye and smiled sympathetically.

"Don't you worry so much over that Goode affair," she said. "I am not worrying. I somehow have a joyous feeling this morning that the fellow will be back at work before noon."

"As she finished speaking the door behind me opened. Miss Susie's face expanded and contracted and flushed with the most amazed expressions I ever beheld on a woman's countenance. Her eyes almost bulged. Before I could turn she clapped her hands once and with a cry, half of joy, half of disbelief, arose and then sat down again like one exhausted.

"The next instant John Goode stood at the desk, almost by my side. His face was browned and had a healthier glow than when he left. I sidled around the desk a step or two that I might look into his eyes.

"He leaned over Miss Susie's desk. He held a little scrap of paper in his hand.

"Miss Susie, you must have been absentminded when you gave me this, or was it a compliment to what you believe to be my honor? I found it wrapped up in the bills you gave me."

"Miss Susie looked at it, and her face flushed. She glanced quickly through a little file on her desk.

"I must have," she said. "I must have put it in by mistake. It is best to keep a little tangible memorandum, you know, Mr. Goode, even though it is not needed. I hadn't missed it. I thought it was here. Why?"

"She broke off in confusion. In the confusion she brushed the little scrap off of her desk with her hand. I picked it up for her, stealing a glance as I laid it back on the desk.

"It was a receipt given by Goode for the $165. Under his signature he had scribbled hastily:

"Not more than five a week off."

"At that, Miss Susie looked up at him with a strange light in her eye.

"Out of your own mouth, Mr. Goode, tell me—do you deserve to be trusted that far?" she asked.

"Yes, and further if necessary," he answered steadily.

"I stood staring like a Kentucky mountain boy before the statue of Henry Clay.

"Miss Susie took up the scrap of paper and, with the tenderness of a mother when she gives her boy his father's cross of honor because she thinks he is ready for it, tucked it into John Goode's hand.

"Thank you," said Goode, as though he meant it. "I hope you will always trust me in this manner."

"I started to follow the fellow out. He did not go. Instead, he tucked the receipt in his vest pocket and pulled a roll of bills from his trousers pocket. He counted out $150 and laid it on the desk before Miss Susie.

"I suppose Mr. Merrick told you that he expected me to have the salary for the week I was away?"

AFTER-CARE FOR PARALYZED CHILDREN

State Department of Health Announces Program.

Dr. Lindsay R. Williams, Deputy State Commissioner of Health, announced today that the State Department of Health would organize a comprehensive plan of after-care for cases of infantile paralysis in New York State outside of New York City. This plan was approved by the Public Health Council on Thursday last. There have been 3245 cases outside of the City, among which there have been, up to this time, 359 deaths. Among the 2886 surviving patients a small proportion have made, or will make, a complete recovery without paralysis, but the great majority will suffer some degree of paralysis. This can be greatly reduced, and in some cases wholly removed, by suitable treatment extending over months, and sometimes over years, with appliances when needed.

State-wide After-care Movement. In view of the very general lack of extended experience in the after-care of this disease, and in order that the most skilful treatment may be given throughout the State in a reasonably uniform way, regardless of the accessibility of the patient, or of the financial status of the family, the State Department, with the approval of the Governor and other state officials, has planned and will inaugurate on October 17th, a state-wide after-care movement, in cooperation with local authorities and organizations.

Dr. Williams said that the Department had been particularly fortunate in securing the services of Dr. Robert W. Lovett, Professor of Orthopedic Surgery in Harvard University, Surgeon to the Children's Hospital, Boston, Mass., and author of the recently published volume on The Treatment of Poliomyelitis, to organize and inaugurate the after-care work. Dr. Lovett had charge of the after-care work in the State of Vermont under the direction of the State Board of Health, following the epidemic of infantile paralysis in that state in 1914, and secured a marked improvement, or even a cure, of the paralysis in a large proportion of the cases. The general features of the Vermont plan, modified in the light of the experience there gained, will be followed in New York.

This plan will include clinics given by Dr. Lovett at various places in every county in which there are a number of paralyzed children, and furnishing expert nurses to train the children to use anew the paralyzed muscles. Dr. Armitage Whitman, of New York, and Dr. John T. Hodges, of Boston, will give their entire time to the work.

Nurses to Give Treatment. Dr. Williams explained that in the majority of cases the paralysis of one or more muscle groups was not complete or permanent, and that much could be done to restore the functions of these groups of muscles by muscle training and in some cases the use of apparatus. A number of nurses have been specially instructed to give the treatment which would extend over a number of months. He was confident that the large majority of children who now appear to be completely paralyzed could have their powers sufficiently restored to be useful members of society instead of remaining total cripples, as they probably would if proper treatment were not instituted.

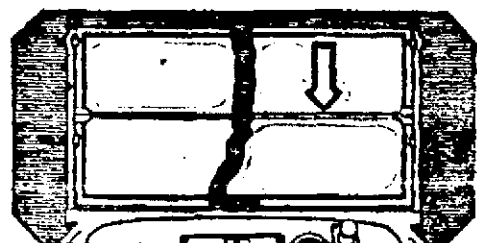

Dr. Williams said that the Department hoped to examine every child by the end of the year, in consultation with the physician who is taking care of it, and to recommend treatment, if necessary.

He stated that braces and other appliances would be needed in some cases, and that there would be other necessary expenditures for special relief, transportation, etc., in some cases, and that the Department had requested the State Charities Aid Association to appoint a special committee to organize such relief features of the situation as could most appropriately be handled by local or private effort.

MAXWELL Motor Cars are now equipped with a new and improved windshield, still longer and more flexible springs, wider seats, deeper and softer cushions, dashlight, gasoline gauge, and other equally important refinements.

To the generous value heretofore present in the Maxwell product, these extra improvements have now been added.

This is in line with the Maxwell policy—not to change the Maxwell in any essential detail, but to continue improving it so that it will always be a standard, recognized product, constantly abreast of the best practices of the industry.

Notwithstanding the superlative and sometimes confusing claims that are made in behalf of various automobiles, we restate our sincere conviction that Maxwell Motor Cars offer more real value per dollar than any other car in the world.

This too, is the belief of the thousands and thousands of Maxwell owners. And these beliefs are supported by actual and tangible facts. We actually know that within the entire history of the automobile business, no motor car—in any class or at any price—has equalled the Maxwell in honest dollar-for-dollar value.

And if you will examine a Maxwell, ride in it, compare it with other cars, consider its splendid record, reputation and past performances, you too, will know it.

JOHN MUIR AND HIS BREAD.

The Famous Naturalist Lived the Real Simple Life.

The naturalist and explorer, John Muir, was a curiously simple man—as simple in his tastes and appetites as in his views of life and conduct. On his trips through the Sierras he never carried a gun and never killed game, nor did he catch fish.

He lived almost exclusively on plain dry bread. "There is no waste in it," he used to say. "Every particle is of value. I also take along a small package of tea and a little tin cup in a stout canvas bag. I can sustain my strength on this diet for months at a time. I occasionally run across some wild berries or an edible root to chew on, but they are not important."

At dinners to which he was invited, Mr. Muir would usually barely taste of soup or fruit, never touch meat or any fancy dessert, talk while others ate and nibble away between times at a slice of bread without butter.

Once while visiting Pasadena he was one of a party starting out to get supper, after which it was proposed to spend the evening in the rooms of one of the company. As they walked along the street they passed a bakery, and Mr. Muir stopped. "Why, friends, look here!" he said. "That is good looking bread. Why go any farther? Let's buy a couple of loaves and take them to the room with us." And he was quite in earnest.

Once a friend took him to luncheon at a famous restaurant in San Francisco. As they took seats at a table Mr. Muir was engaged in some discussion in which he was so absorbed that he was oblivious to everything else. His friend could not interrupt him, and so the talk flowed on until the time approached for closing the restaurant. The head waiter told the host that he must give his order without further delay. Taking advantage of the interruption, the friend suggested to Mr. Muir that he should give his order. He seemed startled. "I have all I wish," he exclaimed. "Order for yourself." For an hour as he talked he had been chewing bits of bread.—Youth's Companion.

EXERCISE AND HEALTH.

Simple Rules For Developing the Body and Keeping "Fit."

"It isn't necessary to give a lot of time to the job of keeping fit," said the physical director of West Point Military academy. "Ten or fifteen minutes of setting up exercise in the morning and a walk every day—not necessarily a long one, but one in which you march briskly like a soldier, with your head and chest up and your shoulders back—will work wonders. Do you know why so many men are narrow chested and weak? It is because they never have given themselves a chance to breathe and never have given their muscles enough exercise. "Many people, men, women and children, are semi-invalids most of their lives because of the lack of a few minutes of daily exercise and also because they have never been taught a proper posture and carriage—such, for instance, as we insist upon at all times in cadets—a position in which every organ of the body is held in its proper place, with ample space to carry on its own particular function without restriction, and in which every muscle of the body is furnishing its own transportation, so to speak, and not depending upon other muscles to do for it what it was intended it should do for itself. "Proper posture and carriage, with shoulders square, chest arched, head erect and body well stretched from the waist up, will of their own account contribute much toward relieving our people of the many petty and not a few of the serious ills from which they are now suffering. They are the foundation of robust health and should be insisted upon in children from the very beginning until they become a habit and as such will displace the disease breeding, slouchy habit now so prevalent among people of all ages and stations."—World's Work.

Acts of the Apostles. The weight of testimony is in favor of St. Luke as the author of the Acts of the Apostles, though some respectable critics claim that the authorship is quite unknown. There are no sure data for determining the date of the Acts. Various dates have been ascribed. Some think that it was written about the year 80, while others hold that it could not have been written before the second century, about A. D. 125.—New York American.

Hunter Shot in Back.

While hunting in the vicinity of Pine Bush Saturday with a party of friends, Calvin E. Staples, town superintendent, met with a painful accident. The party became separated. One of the members, William Brown of Marlborough, sighted a bird and not seeing Mr. Staples, who was in that locality, he fired. Twenty-two of the small bird shot lodged in the face and neck of Mr. Staples. He was immediately taken to a physician at Pine Bush, who dressed the wounds, and from there he was taken to his home in Marlborough. He is recovering nicely at present and will be able to resume his work in several days.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, Oct. 4.—Who's gonna be the world series hero in 1917? Every year the folks speculate on it. And every year for the last ten or so they have missed their guesses by a mile. Through some strange whim of Dame Fortune the men who have grabbed the glory and the plaudits in the past haven't been the stars of the competing nines. Rather, they have been the dubs.

And so, when you proceed about the business of doping out the bird who will wear the laurel wreath, it might be advisable to eliminate the names of the real stars and make your pick from among the poorer players. Unless the order of things is reversed in 1917, it will be some so-called "dub" who will rise up and grab unto himself all the spotlight rays.

Back in 1906 the White Sox were forced to insert a substitute called "Whitey" Rhoie, into the blue ribbon battles with the Cubs. It was the same Rhoie who was the biggest single factor in winning a world's championship for the Sox. It was Rhoie's hitting and his brilliant fielding that started the baseball world—and beat the Cubs.

Adams Starred in 1909.

In 1909 when the Pirates met the Tigers in the titular affair a youthful flinger named Adams was left almost entirely out of the calculations by those who were computing the strength of the buncucorps. Yet it was this same "Babe" who "let it" and won—three games and clinched for the Pirates the larger end of the world series purse.

Franklin Baker entered the 1911 battles in behalf of the Athletics almost unnoticed. He emerged the most talked-about ball player in the world. Baker, modest, quiet, but with tremendous power in his shoulder blades, had caught shoots from the arms of both Mathewson and Marquard and lifted them out of the lot. It was his long drives that enabled the Athletics to beat the Giants, and won for him the enduring title "Home Run King."

The hero of 1915 was Joe Bush, the youthful pitcher for the Mackian crew. When Connie Mack had used up Eddie Plank and Chief Bender in the early battles, the Giants figured they would have it soft for a day or two. Bush, the unknown kid, was inserted into the frolic. The Giants grinned when he walked into the box. They never grinned afterward. Bush, toiled with them and his victory caused his praises to be sung throughout the land.

Goody, 1914; Lewis, 1915.

"Hank" Gowdy was entirely ignored by those who studied the strength of the Braves and Athletics in 1914. Yet it was "Hank" who established a record for terrific hitting that never may be beaten. He lammed the ball to all portions of the lot and the bulk of his drives were extra bases. During the regular season he hit far under 300, during the four-game world series he batted for 545. He was a demon with the mace. He caught and threw to bases in a way that was superb. "Hank" rose to the greatest heights of his career during those four battles and the things he did will live long in memory—and forever in baseball history.

Just before the world series frolics of 1915 got under way, there were reports that Duffy Lewis was to be benched. "Twas said that he hadn't been playing up to his real power and furthermore, he was fading. At the last moment, Bill Carrigan decided to let him into the big games and take a chance. And a fortunate decision it was.

Lewis was the mightiest power in the attack of the Red Sox, and one of the real powers in defensive play. Time and again his scintillating fielding cut off Phillie rallies. And it was his budgeon which helped to win at least two of the first four games, while the two home runs scored by this Lewis person routed the Phillies in the fifth combat and gave the world's championship to the Red Sox.

Deckhand Was Drowned.

The body of Jack Nolan, a deckhand on the steamer Newburgh, was found wedged between some poles at the Central Hudson dock in Newburgh Tuesday morning. The man disappeared Saturday night some hours after he had been paid and is supposed to have lost his footing while trying to board the boat.

RED SOX PICKED TO BEAT DODGERS

(By Frank G. Menke.)

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 4.—Odds of 9 to 5 that the Red Sox will beat the Dodgers in the world series battling were offered here today. The supporters of the Brooklyn warriors found them to their liking and snapped up the Boston offerings with considerable eclat.

Now that the identity of the participants in the big scrap has been established the "experts" have deduced that the Red Sox have the advantage. First of all they declare that the experience the Red Sox have gained in world seriesing will be a distinct "bulge" for them. The Sox, as everybody knows, have done quite a bit of post-season quarreling. The Dodgers, however, make their maiden effort this year.

In the pitching department, the majority of critics think the Sox are superior. They admit that Pfeffer, Marquard and Cheney make up a sterling trio, but, not better than a selection from among Ruth, Shore, Foster and Leonard.

At first base, Daubert shows himself better than Hobitzel. "Brooklyn Jake" is a real bouncer; Hobitzel is a streak hitter. He never has been ranked as a really dangerous doubler. In fielding, Daubert is a wonder. Hobitzel is a good first base, Daubert is one of the best in the game.

At second base, Jack Barry tops George Cutshaw. "Black Jack" is one of the brainiest men in the game, a marvelous fielder and a dangerous hitter, especially in clinches. Cutshaw was a great aid in the pennant fight of the Dodgers, but Barry, undoubtedly ranks beyond him.

At shortstop the Sox again have the advantage. Scott who has been doing most of the work around that neighborhood isn't a star by any means yet he seems better than either Olson or O'Mara. At the third corner Gardner outranks Morrey. "Red Topped Mike" has played some flashy baseball this year, but Gardner, day in and day out, is a better man.

Meyer and Miller, who have been doing most of the receiving for the Dodgers are good, but many think Gaby and Thomas better.

In the outfield Wheat stands out as the peer. He undoubtedly is the best of the sextet. However, second and third places in the garden ranking should go to Lewis and Hooper. It's a toss-up as to whether Henriksen, Walsh or Waller are better than Johnston, Stengel or Myers. However, it would seem that a combination made up of Hooper, Lewis and Walker, Walsh or Henriksen is better on paper than one containing Wheat, Myers and Stengel or Johnston.

In conclusion, the dopesters look at it this way:

The Red Sox have the advantage in the box, behind the bat, in the outfield (as a whole), at second third and short with the Dodgers outstanding only at first base.

DID THE GIANTS THROW GAMES?

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 4.—The scandal which has been aired over the playing of the Giants in the two games with Brooklyn on Monday and Tuesday will be thoroughly probed by the national commission of baseball. The accusation by Manager McGraw during yesterday's game with the Dodgers that his players were disobeying his instructions has aroused a hornet's nest in baseball circles. McGraw was so incensed at the attitude of his players that he left the field during the game.

Not since the memorable play-off for the championship between the Cubs and Giants eight years ago when an attempt was made to bribe the umpires to throw the game to the Giants, has the National pastime been so scandalized.

While most of the dyed-in-the-wool fans do not agree that the Giants "laid down" to the Dodgers in order that Robinson's men might clinch the pennant, there are some skeptics. These fans are the ones who have been "rooting" against the Dodgers all year who still adhere to the charge that there was collusion between the Giants and Dodgers.

Manager Robinson of the Dodgers hastily denied McGraw's charge that the Giants were indifferent. Robinson declared that his team played the better baseball, that the Giants were bound to relax after their record-breaking stunt of winning 26 games, and that the pitchers who put in every ounce they had to make the record were cracking under the strain.

What the commission's probe will bring out is a matter of conjecture. McGraw is a strict disciplinarian. He was probably a little "loose" because his record-breaking stunt was nipped last Saturday and "peevish" because his charges could not beat the Dodgers—a thing they have not done often this year.

The commission will begin its probe at the Waldorf today. Two of the Giants—Art Fletcher, shortstop, and William Peritt, pitcher—have denied that there was any collusion between them and the Dodgers. President Tener of the National League has made light of McGraw's outburst. While McGraw declared he was through with baseball for the year only, a man with an intimate knowledge of National League politics, asserted that the leader was ready to leave the Giants at once, although his contract calls for another year of service.

Others of the Giant team, including McGraw, some of the Brooklyn players and sporting writers will probably be called before the commission to give their statements.
